A Book to Open Your Mind and Heart
Our lives unfold like the pages of a book a story we write as we are living, with the ending unknown until the moment it arrives. When we are born, our hearts are like a clean, blank slate, and as we grow older, we absorb knowledge and experience, which shapes and defines each person. As our lives go on, we will experience difficult times. But we also learn that the most beautiful sunrises can come after the darkest night, and that the most difficult day can end with an unforgettable sunset. This book was written not to judge you, but to give you the opportunity to open your mind and judge yourself. It is not always possible to be politically correct and honest at the same time. Political correctness, greed, and ignorance are leading to the decay of mankind, and the destruction of the earth. As you read this book, allow yourself to open your mind to more logical thoughts than you have been taught before. Take the risk of meditating on mankind, and how our lives are affected by social behaviors, religions, the economy, and global warming. What must be done to protect our lives on earth? If we are willing to seek it, beauty can be the outcome of even the most tragic events. If we listen, we will learn to find the beauty that rises from tragedy.
